SIEGEL AGREES TO RETURN ON OLYMPIC

Wireless Message to His Lawyers Is Exhibited to Pacify District Attorney.

VOGEL'S FAMILY ALARMED

Has Hurt Case of Both Partners.

Henry Siegel, indicted merchant whose on last Saturday has aroused the District Attorney, promised yesterday to return to this country on the ship on which he saited away. That will give him about five days in London with his daughter and grandchildren, to see whom was the only purpose, he says, of going away un-

If Siegel does not debark at Plymouth on Friday, as he says, but instead goes on to Cherbourg and there leaves the vessel, he will be placed promptly under arrest. If he does hurry from the ship at Plymouth he will be under the constant surveillance of Scotland Yard men who have been requested by District Attorney Whitman to keep in touch with every movement of Siegel while in England. So long as Siegel remains in England and makes no move that is suspicious he will be free from arrest, bu at the same time he must be true to his promise as to the day of his return.

John B. Stanchfield and Lemuel E attorneys for Siegel and for Frank E. Vogel, Siegel's partner, succeeded yesterday in making such an ar rangement with District Attorney Whit man so that Siegel will have a few day with his daughter. The District Attorney NEW METHOD OF AERO was not inclined to be so lenient with Slegel because of the suspicious manner in which he left the country, but both lawyers gave every personal assurance of their belief in Siegel's return.

Wireless Message From Siegel.

To prove Siegel's plans they showed the District Attorney a wireless message received from him in answer to a vigorous message which had been sent or the previous day. The message from Siegel said:

"Leave steamer at Plymouth. Return

The District Attorney conferred with Mr. Quigg in the afternoon after that lawyer had held a long talk with Arthur C. Train, Mr. Whitman's assistant in active charge of the indictments against Siegel and Vogel. Mr. Whitman made it clear that he would not relax vigilance over the movements of Siegel in England and would not hesitate to take extreme. and would not hesitate to take extreme measures should the slightest pretext offer part of the chassis was smashed.

Siegel's Plan for Trip.

Mr. Quigg, after his interview with Mr. Whitman and Mr. Train, made the statement that he knew Siegel was discussing the plan of going to England.

"About a month ago Siegel spoke of his daughter and said she had only recently learned of his legal trouble and had worried herself ill over it. Then his grandehild became ill. He asked me if he had the right to go abroad and I said that he would be justified in going anywhere. That advice was upheld by Justice Blanchard's statement in court yesterday. I did not know, however, that Siegel planned to sail on Saturday.

"However, he will be on hand when he is wanted. Mr. Whitman announced today that he would ask for a special panel" to make any comment."

In editorial was written a letter to Henry Weodhouse, editor of Flying, taking exception to an editorial in the May issue. The editorial, which was recently quoted in The Sux, says that we may be compelled to send into Mexico a "winged mob" that will be "defant of military authority." if it is eventually necessary to enlist volunteer direct.

Mr. Jerwan refers to the editorial as a "lot of balderdash," and says the volunteer drowned, because there were no other boats within halling distance.

Three Character Witnesses Testify for Former Patrolman Who Seeks Damages.

Ex-Commissioner of Police Bingham was charged yesterday with having tried to make a patrolman swear falsely against seph A. Wasserman, who is suing the Bronx Home News Publishing Company for $100,000 libel. The charge was made by John H. Butler of the Thirty-seventh precinct, testifying before Judge Brady in the Bronx Supreme Court.

"Bingham said that if I did not appear against Wasserman he would reduce me, send me to the sidewalk and have a lieutenant see that I stayed there," said Butler. "I refused to do that and he reduced me from sergeant. I was reduced without any charges being brought and without any trial." Butler had been brought forward by M.

L. Heidenheimer, attorney for Wasserman, to refute the testimony given Monday by ex-Commissioner Bingham as to Wasser man's reputation and accusing former Dis-trict Attorney Jerome with failure to prosecute Wasserman and others against whom evidence of graft was said to have been produced.

"Do you mean to say that ex-Commissioner Bingham asked you to swear falsely to an affidavit?"
"I do," was Butler's answer.
Lieut. Timothy McAuliff, for the defence, testified to an alleged conversation between him and Wasserman seven or eight years ago. He wasn't sure about the exact time, but said it was in front of a saloon at Third avenue and 183d street.

"Wasserman asked me how much I was making," testified McAuliff, "and I told him. He laughed and said, 'Why, I make more than you do. I make as much in a week as you do in a month.' I told him that if he did he didn't do it honseth."
